ILLUSTRATED SONG

"When I Marry You"

The way to be free from care in Clothing is to be careful in the name that guides you. It's just as easy to get the utmost in Style, in value, in exclusive Fabric-quality as it is to remember the Lippy label. Progress is the spirit of the age--this is nowhere more noticeable than in our clothes.

HALLOWE'EN TO BE ORDERLY

Burgess Holtzworth Issues Request for no Flour Throwing. Personal Property must be Protected. Offenders to be Arrested.

No flour throwing or malicious mischief will be tolerated in Gettysburg on Hallowe'en according to orders which have been issued by Burgess Holtzworth. Harmless amusements will be allowed but such practices as running away with vehicles, carrying away gates and fences and otherwise molesting property will be quickly stopped by the police who will have instructions to make prompt arrests. The following has been issued by the Burgess:

"This Saturday evening being the time when the annual observance of Hallowe'en is to take place the following orders are issued for the comfort and protection of the citizens of the town. There shall be no flour throwing on the streets. Persons have suffered considerable loss in the past through clothes being ruined in this way. The molestation of personal property will not be allowed and the police have instructions to arrest at once any one seen carrying away or otherwise removing vehicles, door steps, gates, fences, or anything of that nature. Harmless fun will not be interfered with."

Last year Burgess Slaybaugh issued a proclamation forbidding the throwing of flour and it had a wholesome effect. Clothes had been ruined in other years by the senseless practice and it was not safe for any one to venture on the streets with good clothing.

The season will be observed in Gettysburg in the usual manner. A number of social events have been planned and there will be no end to parties, dances and other forms of entertainment. The county too will have its customary fun and Saturday night promises some lively times for the young people.

It is a carefully constructed series of life pictures throughout possessing an absorbing plot and convincing story. There is cause for effect in regard to lasting popularity of "Our New Minister" it being that style of play wherein "cleanliness, theme, dialogue and general brilliancy predominate, at the same time being a performance that pleases people of all walks or stations in life, and when a play possesses those qualifications, it cannot fail to succeed.

WANTED—A heavy dog to run a tread power. C. A. STONER, Pro.

Washington rated agriculture as one of the noblest and most useful of pursuits in a day when the methods followed were crude and the results attained meager. Today it occupies a still more exalted position and in a very true sense furnishes the means whereby we are able to subsist as a nation. The time is fast approaching, if not already here, when an increasing number of the brightest boys and girls of the land will look to agriculture and horticulture in their general and special fields as callings which they may enter with ample equipment of intelligence and energy, knowing that in return for the same effort necessary for success in professional, business or clerical pursuits they will reap a generous and substantial reward. The conditions to be found in rural life may and ought to be healthful, wholesome and uplifting—nay, ever inspiring—if the right spirit is brought to its activities. Notwithstanding the progress made in the past fifteen years there is as yet but a meager showing of the possibilities of the highest and best type of agriculture. It is the one great field of effort, tremendously wide and roomy, which has not yet been exploited and exhausted. The door of opportunity swings wide for those who would enter it, promising a type of life, though fraught with hard toil and some discouragements, at once the most health giving and independent of those pursuits which young men and women are entering today.

There is one present day fad which has a deal of common sense to back it, and that is the rapidly increasing tendency of people in cities and smaller towns and in some cases the country of sleeping in tents on their porches or in their back yards. It has healthfulness and solid enjoyment to commend it.

The State Poultry association of Connecticut has brought pressure to bear on the members of the state legislature and secured the passage of a bill which compels dealers to sell eggs for what they really are. A placard must be placed in each receptacle containing eggs stating whether they are fresh or cold storage.

A good, square look at a piece of meat reeking with tuberculosis germs, and the exhibit is being made frequently these days, is calculated to make the consumer of meat and milk products thankful that some one in the past decade had patriotic concern enough for the public health to assist in giving this dread plague its present publicity.

It requires from four and one-quarter to four and one-half bushels of wheat to make a barrel of flour, while a bushel of it will make about 290 pounds of bread.

CUSTOM HOUSE NEST OF GRAFT

Importers Say New York Service is Corrupt.

CROOKS RETAIN THEIR JOBS

Men Who Confessed Their Dishonesty at Trial Granted Immunity — Merchants Declare Unfair Business Competition Was Brought About by the Grafting.

New York, Oct. 28.—Importers and merchants, who have been held up for years by the grafting of custom house inspectors and weighers, say that the whole customs service in this city is rotten from the bottom upward. How far up the rottenness extended few of them could guess, because the complete system of robbing the government through false weights and returns, collecting bribes for prompt service forced the importers to deal only with the little crooks.

Who the men are that get a fat share of the blackmail the little crooks collected is a matter which interests men who have been forced for years, they say, to be dishonest themselves in order to get their shipments handled by the petty officials of the custom house.

Merchants Forced to Submit. Scores of merchants who deal in imported goods have been gouged for years by the graft system in the customs service. They submitted to it, they explained, because they had to get their shipments into their warehouses, and strict honesty wasn't possible with many customs men. It took cash in the hand and a smiling acquiescence in grand larceny to enable them to keep their heads above water in an unfair business competition brought about by the grafting in the service.

The end of the Musica case in the criminal branch of the U. S. circuit court came when young Philip Musica, an importer, who had pleaded guilty to participation in cheese weighing frauds, was remanded for sentence by Judge Holt, and the indictment against Musica's action in retaining self-confessed thieves in the customs service was discredited to the government and an injustice to honest men, made some importers believe that the whole graft system could be ended by a fair course of dealing in Collector Loebe's office.

Young Musica's guilt had been settled by the testimony of three men, George Brahm, George Berge and William Hutchinson, assistant weighers on the docks, all of whom have a guarantee of immunity from prosecution and were retained in their jobs. They testified coolly that they were dishonest men when they gave evidence against the young Italian importer.

KILLED FATHER BY BLOW

Son Crushed His Head With Piece of Pipe During Quarrel.

Bloomfield, Ind., Oct. 28.—Samuel Weaver, a wealthy farmer near Marco, is dead from the effects of a blow given him by his son, John Weaver. Snatching the weapon out of his father's hands, the son gave him a terrific blow on the back of the head, crushing the skull.

MAN DIES IN HIS BUGGY

Excitement Over Testifying in Road Fight Hastens Death.

Williamsport, Pa., Oct. 28.—Silas Bailey, one of the most prosperous farmers in the White Deer valley, was a witness in an aldermanic hearing here over a road controversy. He was much wrought up over the affair and on his way home died in his buggy. Friends believe that the excitement of the suit hastened his end.

His daughter Eva was driving, when the father fell over against her. She thought he had fainted, and, holding his body with one hand, drove with the other to reach a doctor. The coroner ascribed death to heart failure.

SAW VISION OF SON ON STRETCHER

Parents Feared For His Safety and Dreamed He Was Dead.

Camden, N. J., Oct. 28.—"My poor boy is dead. I knew it. It was my dream and that of his father," sobbed Mrs. George Kepler, of Third and Mt. Vernon streets, when handed a telegram announcing the death of her son George, Jr., in Steubenville, O., as the result of a fall from a bridge.

Ever since young Kepler left for Steubenville, following his marriage to Miss Fannie Robbins just four weeks ago, to work on a new bridge, his parents have feared for his safety. A week ago both mother and father dreamed that their son had been killed, and when the telegram announcing his death was received both were prostrated.

"It was but a week ago that I was troubled in my dreams," said Mrs. Kepler, between sobs. "I saw the body of my son brought into the house on a stretcher. I was told he had been drowned. Twice I dreamed the same thing, and when I told my husband he said he had dreamed the same thing. He was my only son."

SAYS FATHER KILLED MOTHER YEAR AGO

Woman Can No Longer Keep Secret Crime She Saw.

Punxsutawney, Pa., Oct. 28.—Declaring to the district attorney that she was unable longer to keep the fact that her mother was murdered a secret, and stating that she was threatened with a similar fate if she did not keep silent, Mrs. John Kunselman, living near here, caused the arrest of her father, William Jones, whom she declares upon oath killed her mother a year ago.

When Mrs. Jones died an investigation was made, but a verdict of "death from unknown causes" was rendered, with no suspicion pointing to the husband.

Mr. Kunselman has frequently discovered his wife sobbing bitterly of late, and finally the girl confessed to him the reason, saying that her father murdered her mother, and that she was present when the crime was committed. The daughter will give no details of the deed by advice of counsel.

"Contest" Between Dramatist and Critic Resulted Harmlessly.

Paris, Oct. 28.—Henri Bernstein, the dramatist, and Francis Chevasu, a dramatic critic, fought a duel with pistols at Prince Park. Neither was injured. M. Chevasu fired and missed, while Bernstein did not discharge his weapon. When he was asked later why he had not fired, the dramatist replied, "I forgot to."

The duel grew out of the publication of an article written by Bernstein, in which he attacked the critic. M. Chevasu issued the challenge.

THE MISSING GOLD.

By MILDRED PEABODY.

(Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.)

When the Klondike gold fever broke out one who caught the disease was a San Francisco boy, Ben Hathaway, and in his case it was a development of a previous complaint—love. He wished to marry his sweetheart, Jennie Baxter, but since he had no fortune Jennie's father wouldn't listen to his suit. The couple were both too sensible to run away to a life of poverty, so they agreed to separate till Ben had accumulated enough on which to at least begin housekeeping. Hearing of the new found gold fields he decided to try his luck in them.

Ben spent a year in the Klondike prospecting, which for him meant rags and starvation. Then one day while working alone with his pick he struck a rich vein. But how get the benefit of it? There was then little capital in Alaska; besides, he dared not trust any one there with his secret. His sole possessions were the rags that covered him, 87 cents, a pipe and a few ounces of tobacco. However, he resolved to start on foot for San Francisco.

On the way to the coast Ben fell in with a man who was going to San Francisco with 300 pounds of gold dust. Suspecting that he was being followed with a view to robbery, in order to throw his pursuers off the track he transferred the boxes to Ben, furnishing him the means for his own and the gold's transportation. Ben gladly accepted the charge. He and the owner of the dust traveled by the same route, though separately, to San Francisco.

When Ben turned over the treasure it was weighed and instead of pulling down 300 pounds it pulled only 290. A pound of gold dust had disappeared. It had been so packed that it was not possible any leakage could have occurred. Ben, instead of being permitted to hurry to his sweetheart to report his find in Alaska, was arrested, charged with theft and thrown into jail.

Jennie went to see him and, when he assured her that he was innocent, believed him. She begged her father to furnish the means for her lover's defense, and he, to gratify his daughter, did so, though there was not the slightest hope of an acquittal. A young lawyer was engaged who, upon consultation with his client, becoming convinced of his innocence, took a deep interest in the case. His curiosity was excited. How could a pound of gold be extracted from a box strongly nailed together and under Ben's eye every moment and under the eye of its owner nearly all the while. It was the mystery in the case that excited the attorney's chief interest.

At the trial a great deal of sympathy was excited by Jennie Baxter, who was present and eagerly caught at every word spoken for or against her lover's innocence. The prosecution brought in evidence which, uncontradicted, must surely convict the prisoner. It was simply a certificate of the weight of the dust in Alaska when turned over to Ben's keeping and a like certificate of a weigher in San Francisco.

The only hope for Ben seemed to be in his attorney proving his previous good character and the mercy of the court. When his attorney arose to speak in his client's defense every eye was directed toward him, curious to learn if there were any possible defense other than that mentioned—good character. What was the surprise of every one when, instead of introducing any such evidence, the attorney asked the judge for permission to put on the stand a teacher of physics as an expert witness.

"I cannot see," said the judge, "any relation between physics and theft and must refuse the—"

Something in the expression of the attorney altered the court's intention, and he finished the sentence by admitting the witness.

"With what does physics deal?" asked the lawyer.

"The laws of nature?"

"In the revolution of the earth what two principal forces are at work?"

"Gravity and the centrifugal."

"I object," interrupted the prosecuting attorney, "to taking up the time of the court with such irrelevant matter."

"Proceed," said the judge to the prisoner's counsel.

"What is the centrifugal force?" asked the latter of the witness.

"The throwing off of any object on the surface of a revolving body."

"Does the centrifugal force on the earth's surface vary?"

"It does. It is greatest at the equator. At the poles it is eliminated."

The judge, who was leaning forward, listening intently, smiled and leaned back in his chair. He had seen the drift of these questions.

"Gravity is weight, is it not?" pursued the lawyer.

"It is."

"And weight is affected by the centrifugal force?"

"It is."

"What is the difference between the weight of a body at Cape Nome, Alaska, and the same body at San Francisco?"

"About one in 300."

There was a stir among those in the courtroom. Every one now saw that there had been no actual loss in the weight of the transported gold. The suit was withdrawn, and Ben was again a free man. Mr. Baxter furnished means for the development of Ben's mine. Ben and Jennie were married and returned to the Klondike. They are now rich.

THEY NEVER FAIL

That is What They Say About Them in Gettysburg, and It Is Therefore, Reliable.
Another proof, more evidence,—testimony to swell the long list of local people who endorse the old Quaker Remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this convincing endorsement of that remarkable preparation.
Mrs. Frank Tawney, 27 Breckenridge St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "My son suffered from kidney disease since infancy and probably inherited the trouble. He complained of severe pains in his back and sides, his kidneys were very weak and at times he had but little control over the secretions. Any cold he caught always settled in his kidneys and caused him intense suffering. Reading about Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at the People's drug store and upon using them my son improved rapidly. When he had finished the contents of one box, he was without a sign of kidney complaint. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other persons suffering from the same affliction."
For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

THE SHORTHORN A PRODUCER

A breeder of much experience says: The Shorthorn is one of the oldest breeds, so old that but little is known of its early history. It seems to have been a blend of various native and imported breeds, including a dash of Holstein blood from imported Dutch cattle.
The breed has developed along two lines—one mainly for beef, the other for dairy purposes, with beef qualifications secondary.
As a beef animal nothing need be said about the excellence of the Shorthorn. Its quality and fitness as a butcher's animal are well known. Many of the winners at the various fat stock shows have been pure bred or grade Shorthorn. No doubt more beef herds are composed of Shorthorn stock and grades than of any other breed.
The dairy Shorthorn has attracted less attention in this country than some other breeds, but in England a large per cent of the dairy herds are of this variety, and much of the milk shipped to London market comes from Shorthorn cows.
In the United States the dairy Shorthorn has been most popular in the central west, but there are scattered herds everywhere and a great many grade Shorthorns sold at the public cattle markets of the middle states and New England. Shorthorn dairy cows make a fine appearance when offered for sale as milk cows and command high values.
They are of large size, with more flesh than the straight dairy breeds, and the udders are very large sized, their tendency to fleshiness making them seem of greater capacity than they are. As a milk producer, however, the Shorthorn compares well with other dairy breeds, producing a large quantity of a richness equal or superior to the Ayrshire.
The Shorthorn is a favorite with the producers who wish to keep the animal only until the milk supply becomes too small to be profitable and then sell her as beef. Under such conditions the Shorthorn milks well for a long time and then puts on flesh easily and makes good weight and a good quality of beef.
At the Columbian exposition the Shorthorn herd compared well with the Jerseys and Guernseys in milk and greatly surpassed them in gain of live weight. The best one was Kitty Clay IV, which in thirty days yielded 1,592 pounds of milk, which gave 62.24 pounds of butter and showed a net profit over cost of feed of $19.57.
At the Louisiana exposition the Shorthorn made a still better showing, the twenty cows averaging 4,421 pounds of milk, yielding 165.3 pounds of butter fat in the 120 days of the test, besides making a good gain in weight at the same time. One of the best grade Shorthorn cows is Rose of the Wisconsin experiment station herd, yielding 10,163 pounds of milk in 326 days. This cow yielded a net profit of $79.86 from the 506 pounds of butter which were made from her milk during that time.
Various Shorthorn records indicate that the best dairy herds of the breed equal the best Ayrshires in yield and surpass them in gain of weight.
Fancy prices have been paid for Shorthorns of beef breeding. Probably the highest price paid was for Duchess of Geneva, a New York state Shorthorn, which was sold at a public sale for $40,600. At a sale in Chicago a bull was sold at $14,000.

UNCLE JOE FEARS FOR HIS FUTURE

Speaker's Friends Ask Taft to Endorse Him.

DEEP WATERWAYS OBSCURED

Trip Down the Mississippi Develops Into a Political Junket to Discuss Interstate Problems—Governors Debate Conservation of Forests.

Helena, Ark., Oct. 28.—The ghost of President Taft's speech in Boston praising Aldrich is haunting him. Uncle Joe Cannon's friends in congress now ask that Mr. Taft give the same sort of a public certificate to him. They have held a meeting on the steamboat Quincey, of the president's Mississippi fleet, and have decided to urge Mr. Taft to say something in Uncle Joe's favor before the deep waterways cruise ends.

The speaker's friends argue that he is as deserving as Senator Aldrich of the president's O. K. and that he stands in much greater need of it. They add that the speaker and the senator have stood for the same thing, and that if Mr. Taft indorses one he ought to be willing to extend a supporting hand to the other. Some of the speaker's friends fear that the tariff agitation is going to develop into a fight against Uncle Joe, and they would like to have a helpful word or two from the president.

Taft Not Likely to Indorse Cannon. It is unlikely that Mr. Taft will be drawn into any public expression on Speaker Cannon. The subject is loaded with too much dynamite, especially in the middle west. The president's indorsement of Aldrich is the most unpopular thing he had done on his trip, and one experience undoubtedly will be enough.

The great deep waterways excursion has developed into a political junket and an occasion for discussing interstate problems. Occasionally a look at the muddy river brings to the minds of the junketers the real purpose of the trip, but that proposed fourteen-foot channel has got to be largely an afterthought. Mr. Taft himself had the temerity to suggest that the deep waterway agitators pause and discover whether they really want the Mississippi deepened, whether the merchants themselves don't prefer rail to water transportation. It made the deep waterway boosters gasp, this Taft statement, and they have come to the conclusion that the president isn't very enthusiastic over their pet $200,000,000 project.

Practically the only topic of conversation on the boat bearing the 177 congressmen has been Uncle Joe's future. Frost as Insurgents and Regulars Meet.

The insurgents are represented on the boat by six men, including Victor Murdock, of Kansas, and Cooper, of Wisconsin. Many stories of Murdock's unpleasant life while cooped up with the Cannon supporters have been carried to the other boats. It is said that he and Uncle Joe pass by without speaking and that when they sit down to dinner the frost almost freezes the ice cream.

On the steamboat St. Paul, where the twenty-five governors hold forth, the deep waterways talk has long since given place to a discussion of the conservation of the nation's forests. The governors held a meeting similar to the one that was held in Washington at the instance of President Roosevelt. Gifford Pinchot, chief forester, told them of the work of his bureau, and the governors discussed means of co-operation between the states and the federal government in protecting the forests. If anybody had raised the cry "Fourteen feet through the Mississippi valley," he would have been fired out of the meeting, yet they call this a deep waterways excursion.

Mr. Taft in his speech at Memphis punctured the idea that anybody is going to learn anything practical about the Mississippi by this cruise from St. Louis to New Orleans. "An inspection and an investigation of the Mississippi" is the way the deep waterway boosters have described the trip.

Think Cataclysm Occurred on Mars. London, Oct. 28.—The Journal of the British Astronomical association, referring to the changes observed in Mars in September, says these phenomena are unparalleled in past records. The obliteration of the markings on the surface of the planet by a gloomy yellow veil indicates some catastrophe on a gigantic scale, some cataclysm which dwarfs the most violent Tellurian earthquake.

General Booth Has Recovered. London, Oct. 28.—General Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, has resumed his activities, appearing for the first time since he underwent an operation at a largely attended meeting of Salvationists at Clapton, which he addressed. He has lost completely the use of one eye, and the other is imperfect, but his doctor has told him that it may last for five years.

He Helped Capture Lincoln's Slayer. Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 28.—James Lucas, eighty years old, who was guard at the Old Capital prison in Washington during the Civil War, and played an important part in the capture of J. Wilkes Booth, slayer of Abraham Lincoln, is dead in this city.

NICARAGUAN MINISTER QUILTS

Resigns Because Brother Has Espoused Cause of Revolution.
Washington, Oct. 28.—Senor Don Rodolfo Espinosa, minister from Nicaragua to the United States, has resigned. On Saturday last the minister learned that his younger brother, Amolio, was acting in the capacity of general minister of the provisional government set up by the revolutionists.

As soon as he learned this the minister cabled to President Zelaya urging a prompt acceptance of his resignation, feeling that it was not proper that he should act in Washington as minister of the regular government under the circumstances, holding that pride and decorum prevented this.

BOY WAS ENGULFED IN MINE CAVE-IN Children Felt Ground Giving Way Beneath Them and Ran.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 28.—One of the many subsidences of the surface over the old mine workings which have recently been doing much damage at Edwarsville, near here, engulfed ten-year-old Hugh Hughes and several other children had narrow escapes. While playing on Centre street the youngsters felt the ground giving way beneath their feet and ran. Young Hughes was swallowed up, however, only the heel of his shoe being seen. Some miners risked their lives by jumping into the hole and effected a remarkable rescue, getting the boy out alive, but unconscious, and he was injured internally by the weight of the earth which covered him. He is in a critical condition.

The subsidences at Courtdale and Edwarsville extended still further, and much additional damage is expected to result.

WOMAN IN TRANCE STARVING

Takes But Little Nourishment, and That Through Nostrils.

Pittsburg, Oct. 28.—The strange case of Mrs. Kate Mendelsohn, who has been in a trance for five weeks at the Passavant hospital, still puzzles scores of local physicians who have seen her. She is slowly starving to death, and the little nourishment given her is through the nostrils.

Physicians are divided in their opinions of the case. The hospital doctors diagnose the case as dementia praecox, a type of depressive insanity. Other physicians disagree with this diagnosis, but do not offer a substitute.

U. S. THREATENS CHILE

No Further Delay Will Be Tolerated in Settlement of $1,000,000 Claim.

Washington, Oct. 28.—The state department cabled to United States Minister Dawson, at Valparaiso, Chile, directing him to notify the Chilean government that no further delay will be tolerated in the settlement of the Alsop & Co. claim, which amounts to more than $1,000,000.
The claim has been pending for more than a year.

To Limit Pope's Audiences.

Rome, Oct. 28.—The papal majordomo has sent a circular to the rectors of all religious institutions forbidding them to recommend anybody for audiences unless they personally know them or they are furnished with credentials by their own bishops. The object is to limit audiences and to exclude the merely curious.

41 Lawyers In Fight Over Estate.

Husband Is Dead In Suicide Pact.

FATHER AND SON DROWN TOGETHER

Capsized From Small Boat on Fishing Trip.

SINK IN EACH OTHER'S ARMS

Were Wearing Heavy Gum Boots and Neither Came to the Surface of the Water—Horse Plunges Into Lake and Two Students Drown.

Milton, Del., Oct. 28.—E. C. Holland, a prosperous farmer, and his twenty-one-year-old son Rufus were drowned in the Broadkill river when a small skiff in which they were riding was upset in midstream. The bodies have not been recovered.

The father and son had been fishing and had rowed up from the Lewes river into the Broadkill. At the jetty they met the steamer Marie Thomas on her way from Philadelphia to Milton.

To make better time they hauled for a tow and soon had a rope made fast and were pulled up the river by the steamer. At a small creek, near their home, where they wanted to cast off, the elder man stepped to the bow of the boat to cast off the rope. His weight and the rate of speed at which they were going combined to push the nose of the little craft under water and sink it.

The two men were wearing heavy gum boots and as they went overboard clapped each other in arms.

Neither came up. The steamer was stopped and the crew searched a quarter of an hour for traces of them. Men are now grappling for the bodies, but with the strong tide at this point it is feared that they will not be recovered.

Holland is the fourth one of his family to drown in the past year.

TWO DROWNED IN LAKE

Students Fall From Buggy as Horse Runs Into Deep Water.

Stroudsburg, Pa., Oct. 28.—Two students of Fairview academy, Miss Edith Frantz, of Broadheads, and Albert Koehler, of Roscommon, were drowned in Minico lake, while a third student, Miss Annie Shupp, of Effort, was rescued as she sat on a buggy seat in water up to her neck.

The trio had been driving, and as they approached home Koehler guided the horse to the edge of the lake to let it drink. The animal became frightened and ran out into the water, continuing until it swam. In the frantic effort to check the animal Koehler stood up. Miss Frantz grabbed him and they both fell from the buggy. They were unable to swim or to catch the vehicle.

The horse was drowned, and Miss Shupp kept screaming until neighbors went to her rescue.

HUGS WIFE UNTIL HER RIBS BREAK

Joy of 24th Wedding Anniversary Too Strong For Her.

Baltimore, Oct. 28.—Celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of his wedding, August Stanka, forty-eight years old, affectionately embraced his wife around the waist and hugged her until her ribs broke. She had him arrested, and he languishes in the city jail awaiting a hearing, while his spouse, Mrs. Augustine Stanka, is at her home sadly nursing her injuries.
Mr. and Mrs. Stanka were celebrating their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. While Mrs. Stanka was at the kitchen stove her husband came in singing a German ditty. He approached his wife and started a series of hugging feasts.
Stanka hugged tighter, and soon Mrs. Stanka's joy turned to anger. Then, as he hugged harder and harder, it turned to pain. The woman screamed, but Stanka hugged on until a policeman, attracted by her cries, arrested her, and upon her request arrested the husband.

Kills His Sisters; Gives Himself Up. Kansas City, Oct. 28.—James McMahon, the self-confessed triple murderer, is charged in three informations filed in the city court in Kansas City, Kan., by County Prosecutor Taggart, with having killed Margaret Van Royen and Rose McMahon, his sisters, and Alonzo R. Van Royan, his brother-in-law.

Mrs. Horace Taft Under the Knife. Baltimore, Oct. 28.—Mrs. Horace D. Taft, of Waterbury, Conn., a sister-in-law of President Taft, is a patient at the Johns Hopkins hospital, where she has been operated upon successfully. Her husband, who is in attendance, declines to talk about her case.

Sends Truant's Parent to Jail. Bethlehem, Pa., Oct. 28.—Arrested the second time for refusing to send his twelve-year-old son, Samuel, to school, Oliver Miller, of Northampton, was sent to jail for five days by Squire Koehler.

Bad Stomach Causes Unsightly Complexions the People's Drug Store Has a Remedy

Bad stomachs mean bad blood; bad blood means sallow, unattractive skin. Why? The stomach in a healthy condition separates the nutritious matter from the food and gives it to the blood to supply the entire body with nourishment.

If the stomach is not in a healthy condition it does not separate from the food the nutritious matter and it passes off with the waste.

Thus the blood is impoverished and has not sufficient nourishment to supply the muscles, skin and body generally.

If you have belching of gas, distress after eating, nausea, biliousness, nervousness, or foul breath, then your stomach is wrong and you want the best prescription for stomach troubles the world has ever known.

You want Mi-o-na tablets, the great stomach remedy which the People's drug store guarantees to cure indigestion, no matter of how long standing, or money back.

Relieves stomach distress at once. Mi-o-na is sold by leading druggists everywhere and in Gettysburg by the People's drug store for 50 cents a large box. Test samples free from Booth's Mi-o-na, Buffalo N. Y.

As its name implies, (two-for-one) is very different from other paints, in that it is so made, that you only require one-half as much, as though you bought a paint ready mixed. For instance, should you require say thirty gallons of high grade ready mixed paint at $1.75 to paint your property, you would have to buy only 15 gallons of 2-4-1, at same price and 15 gallons of Pure Linseed Oil at 70 cents, a clear saving to YOU of $15.00 on your paint bill. If Linseed is cheaper—your save MORE. ISN'T THIS WORTH SAVING.

Genuine Eczema Remedy

New Remedy That Cures Eczema Quickly.

L. M. Buehler has sold hundreds of jars of Hokers in the last few weeks, and although he offered to refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied purchaser, not one jar was returned.

While this is surprising in itself, yet the most marvelous thing is the reports of chronic cases of eczema that have been cured by this simple skin food. People who have suffered with scales, scabs and even bleeding itching have found relief in Hokers.

No matter where the eczema, pimples or other breaking out occurs, whether on the face, hands, legs or body, the application of Hokers will give quick relief and even the worst or most chronic case will be cured in a short time.

You can buy a liberal sized jar at a very low price 25c, and with every package goes a guarantee to refund the money if it is not satisfactory. Larger 50c.

Enjoyable Surprise

The home of S. S. Shriver in Cumberland township, was invaded by a crowd of young people Thursday evening who took possession for the purpose of spending the evening in social intercourse and dancing.

Mr. Shriver was chatting with his family when the invading host burst in upon them and announced their intention of spending the evening with them music and refreshments. Mr. and Mrs. Shriver greeted the young people warmly and a spacious room was soon cleared of furniture and to the sweet strains of music by the Greenmount Orchestra the young people "got busy," doing all the intricate movements of the exhilarating "corn row," "circle three" and other popular steps. Beside these a number of waltzes, two steps and barn dances were executed.

At a late hour the guests departed for their homes feeling that it was good to be there and that Mr. and Mrs. Shriver had maintained their reputation to entertain in an excellent manner.

Guests were present from Fairfield, Harney, Gettysburg and the immediate vicinity of the Shriver home.

Ancient Wisdom.

How many of the dairy farmers living in the full blaze of modern thought and knowledge are as wise and up to date in their ideas of the proper treatment of cattle as Confucius. He was a "heavenly Chinese" who lived 3,000 years or so before Christ. His is the greatest personality in all Chinese history, yet he said this:

"When I was keeper of the herds I always saw to it that all of my cattle were strong, healthy and growing and that there was water in abundance and plenty of feed."

Proven Eczema Cure

A Trial Bottle of Oil of Wintergreen Compound is Offered at 25 Cents.

By a special arrangement with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, we can at present offer the D. D. D. Prescription for eczema in a special trial bottle at one-quarter of its usual price. This oil of wintergreen compound will surely convince the most skeptical. With the first application you will get instant relief from the itch and soon you will see signs of cure.

No matter how many salves and other so-called skin remedies have failed, this oil of wintergreen liquid (unlike salves) will penetrate to the inner skin, killing the eczema germs. Will you not—on our special recommendation—call at our store?—and get a 25 cent trial bottle of D. D. D. Prescription. People's Drug Store, Gettysburg, Pa. C. W. Beales, Prop.

Cure For Hard Milkers.

Many valuable cows and heifers have been sold at a sacrifice by the owner owing to the fact that they were hard milkers, says the Agriculturist. The cause of hard milking cows is so little understood by the average stockman that the disposal of such animals is accounted for in that way. But if stockmen knew how easy it is to overcome hard milking in both cows and heifers I am sure that no animal would be disposed of for lack of treatment.

Hard milking is due to an abnormal contraction of the sphincter muscle, regulating the stream of milk from the point of the teat. On the other hand, when a cow loses her milk it is due to a relaxation or an abnormal expansion of the sphincter muscle at the point of the teat.

Building a Crate.

A successful farmer and breeder gives the following information in regard to building a breeding crate: The length should be four feet eight inches, height two feet ten inches, width two feet four inches, height of front bar twelve inches and height of rear bar eight inches. The two side bars should be 2 by 4 or 2 by 6 and five feet long.

Our breeders have been killing their boars when they should be of the greatest value. The more mature the animal the better should be his offspring.

Those that have a fine bred boar should build a breeding crate, and with cut and these instructions any farmer should build one for himself at a cost of from $1 to $2. You can fix a rear crossbar that holds the side pieces adjustable, so you can raise or lower it to any height you may wish.

THE VETERINARY

Take care that there are no nails upon which the pig can scratch himself. Nails mean scratches; scratches mean care; care takes time.

Remedy For Lice.

If you want a cheap and effective remedy for lice on dogs and cattle, just try a bar of hard soap and a quart of kerosene oil in water. It will kill every louse, but not nits, so the dose will have to be repeated.

Economy In a Sprayer.

Seventy-five cents will get a good sprayer, and as much more will buy a gallon of fly killer. These two things put together will save you many times the amount in milk. Here economy is the expenditure of money.

Keep the Stables Clean.

A mixture of gunpowder and lard is a good remedy for scratches and grease heel. But keeping the stables and the horses' legs clean is better and costs less.

Treatment For Colts.

A colt often hangs out its tongue because it is inflamed with some irritant. Search carefully for any sharp body that may have penetrated the tongue and remove it. Or it may have been lacerated in some manner. In this case the cut must be sewed up with catgut softened in warm water and the mouth washed out frequently with a lotion of permanganate of potash.
